37 Pass Exams

A member of the class which graduated from St. Joseph's Hospital in January has won third place out of 178 student nurses in the recent examinations of the B.C. Registered Nurses' Association.

Joyce Letcher, 21, of Cranbrook, completed her three years' training Jan. 1. Thirty-seven Victoria nurses passed the exams.

St. Joseph's Hospital graduates are Mary Barbulack, Mary Caldwell, Denise Courville, Frances A. Crucil, Ethel C. Daynes, Dorothy M. Doore, Doris C. Jerome, Joyce E. Letcher, Mrs. Donna Lewis, Lorna M. Mansberg, Marjorie I. Mearns, Beverly C. Meredith, Joy M. Schmid, Betty N. Thomson, Phyllis A. Timpany, Doreen A. Valley and Doreen Volpatti.

Royal Jubilee Hospital graduates are Mary A. Avison, Lorna Chisholm, Margaret E. Eyolfson, Wanda A. Gray, Diane E. Guerard, Marion I. Hansen, Barbara A. Hunt, Christine K. Hunter, Isabelle M. Leggett, Donna F. McLeod, Evangeline Moffitt, Emily R. Morgan, Helen M. Ney, Lois Mary Nordan, Dorothy M. Peacock, Mrs. Ethel C. Phillips, Lavon E. Riome, Barbara I. Singleton, Mary K. Sterling and Sharon A. Stilwell.

Victoria and Island students who graduated from other hospitals were Pearl Y. Anderson, Port Alberni; Mrs. Grace Burrows, Brentwood; A. Merelina Drommond, Victoria; Phyllis A. Eriksen, Nanaimo; Sylvia King, Duncan; Helen K. McQuillan, Courtenay; Takato R. Murakami, Ganges, and Anna Schaufler, Victoria.

Again They Claimed Their Rum Rations

Fifty-five elderly men, most of them grey-haired and many wearing hearing aids, last night lined up single file and marched, to the skirl of bagpipes, past a table to claim their rum rations.

They were the remaining veterans of the 67th Battalion "Western Scots" holding their 43rd annual reunion at Lougheed's banquet hall on Douglas Street.

Serving during the First World War as the pioneer battalion in the 4th Canadian Division, these men were the "working engineers" who used to be called in the middle of the night to crawl out into "no man's land" to blow up enemy dugouts or to lay barbed wire.

ORDINARY DINNER

The reunion had the appearance of an ordinary businessman's dinner meeting, until a silent tribute was observed for those not present and pianist Cecil "Paddy" Heaton began playing old-time torch songs.

Paddy didn't go overseas, but he used to play for the 67th when that unit trained at the old exhibition grounds known as the Willows and he hasn't missed a reunion since the outfit returned to Victoria in 1919.

NOT MANY MEN

"Not many men will gather around the piano tonight," he said. "They can't sing any more." He recalled how they used to like "Blighty" and "How are you going to keep 'em down on the farm."

The 67th was among 75,000 Canadian troops sent "over the top" on April 9, 1917, in the famous battle of Vimy Ridge. As snow fell upon the battlefield, the Canadian soldiers crawled out of their trenches at 5.30 a.m. and in the half-light of the dawn advanced in three waves across the shell-pocked, intricate series of heavily-wired enemy trench systems, past concrete machine-gun and trench-mortar emplacements.

IN POSSESSION

By one o'clock they were in possession of Vimy Ridge and looking down upon the level plains of Douai, with the villages of Farbus, Vimy and Petit Vimy lying at their feet.

Among the old-timers present last night was Fred M. Childs, 78, who came all the way from Vanderhoof to attend his first reunion since the initial get-together in 1919.

"Most of my old pals, they're all dead, you know," he said. "I wouldn't have missed it (the reunion) for anything. I feel real good," Mr. Childs said.

Playing the bagpipes were Jock Low, of Duncan, one of the battalion's original pipers, and his son Jock Low, Jr., of Victoria.

"I played on the way up to the front," Jock Sr. said, adding that the pipes were put aside while he was in the trench "because I was too busy working."

PRODUCED PHOTOGRAPH

Reunion chairman, former private James D. Riddell, of Silney, produced a photograph of the group taken in 1931. Many of those in the picture were not present at the dinner.

"In those days (the 1930's) we'd keep up the party until six in the morning," Mr. Riddell said. "Now we're all tired by 10 p.m. and want to go home to bed," he said.

Mixed

Reaction To Allen

VANCOUVER (CP)—There was both praise and criticism Saturday for Maclean's magazine editor Ralph Allen's suggestion that Canada turn her defence budget into peaceful purposes as example to all nations.

Air Vice-Marshal F. M. Heakes, Vancouver's Civil Defence co-ordinator, said Mr. Allen's remarkes were the "ravings of an idealist."

Art Laing, Liberal leader, said he believes the world is not ready to rise to the "great principle" of passive resistance.

Rev. Rupert Evans, chairman of the B.C. conference of Evangelism and Social Service of the United Church: "Canada has a unique opportunity to influence the United States and Russia by making this gesture of renunciation."

Criminal Refuses Parole, Waits for Royal Visit

KINGSTON, Ont. — One of Canada's most notorious criminals, Nicholas Minnille, 42, has refused a parole now, gambling that he'll be freed during the royal visit in June.

Parole now means monthly reports to a probation officer for six years, while Minnille would be completely free if Queen Elizabeth grants a traditional amnesty when she comes to Canada.

Minnille was serving 20 years for armed robbery and escape, the last being a sensational 1947 break with Mickey McDonald and Ulysses Lauzon, both now dead.

Magistrate Ponders Licence Suspension

Albert D. Rayburn, Ben Gordon Road, Saanichton, pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving and was fined $250 in Saanich police court yesterday.

Magistrate William Ostler called for a probation report before deciding if he will suspend Rayburn's drivers' licence. Case was remanded to Thursday.

The electrical contractor was arrested Friday night on the Patricia Bay Highway after his car went off the road.

In city police court, Cpl. Jack K. Dye, PPCIL, was remanded to Thursday for sentencing after he pleaded guilty to three charges of false pretences involving the passing of worthless cheques under assumed names.

He used the names R. J. Williams and William J. Hansen to get groceries and money from city super markets. Total value was $74.49.

V. E. Berry, 1610 Burton, was fined $10 after pleading guilty to a charge of turning without giving a signal at Hillside and Cook.

Few Arabs Survive Nasser Wrath

Kassem on Blacklist

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Seven Arab rulers who dared to stand against President Nasser's dream of empire have been shorn of power in less than two years. Now Premier Abdel Karim Kassem of Iraq has been marked for destruction.

Always before, Nasser's well-oiled, highly-efficient propaganda machine has handled the job, with Nasser only taking a personal hand when needed.

This time Nasser has staked his formidable reputation by personally leading the assault on Kassem.

Whether Kassem can stand up against Nasser remains to be seen. The conflict may well turn into a test of strength for Arab leadership.

It is ironic that Nasser's top target is the man who wiped out three of the United Arab Republic president's major enemies in one coup last summer in Iraq.

But Kassem then cautiously drew away from Nasser's all-embracing Arab nationalism and swung to the left. Nasser backers in Iraq were shunted aside or arrested. Arab Communists in Iraq rose in influence.

Now Nasser, in a series of speeches in Damascus, has accused Kassem of a long list of sins—heresy, murder and opening Iraq to the Communists. If it is possible to judge by Nasser's past successes, the odds against Kassem are high.

Before Kassem, eight Arab rulers — in Lebanon, Jordan, Sudan, Arabia and Iraq—challenged Nasser. Only one — young King Hussein of Jordan —still has all his powers. He had to call for the help of British troops last summer, however, and since then Nasser's quarrel with Iraq has forced him to draw closer to Jordan.

KAMLOOPS—Mr. and Mrs. Basil Cary suffered severe cuts from broken glass when they fled with their children through a bedroom window yesterday after gasoline being used by Mrs. Carey to clean the kitchen floor burst into flames. Fire caused minor damage.
